
Establishment of SCSK Corporation

October 1, 2011—We are pleased to announce the completion today of the merger between Sumisho Computer Systems Corporation (“SCS”) and CSK CORPORATION (“CSK”), marking a first step forward as a new company, SCSK Corporation (“SCSK”).

Japan’s domestic IT market is approaching a period of maturity, and as competition becomes more intense, the prospect of industry-wide restructuring is becoming more of a reality. At the same time IT services are becoming increasingly diverse and sophisticated, and greater flexibility is required to meet the needs of a constantly changing business environment. Backed by a foundation of trust and global support capability as a member of the Sumitomo Corporation Group, we came to the conclusion that a merger between SCS—a company which has continued to conduct stable operations—and CSK—a major independent information services provider with a unique position in the industry, armed with planning capacity, initiative and assertiveness—was a rare opportunity to take a significant leap towards gaining a competitive advantage in this tough environment.

As a global IT service company, SCSK will utilize the strengths of both firms to provide customers with a powerful one-stop support service, from system integration, IT infrastructure implementation, and IT management, through to BPO (Business Process Outsourcing) and IT hardware and software sales. Strategic initiatives for the greater-Japanese market are becoming increasingly important as Japanese companies expand globally and the market grows beyond the borders of Japan. We plan to actively support the global expansion of Japanese companies, utilizing our reliable, Japanese-style IT services.

We strongly believe that this merger will allow us to provide our customers with even greater value for their business, and we will do our utmost to provide customers with the support they require.
