2. Reasons for the decision

We intend to return profits to our shareholders in line with the expansion of our consolidated business performance, after comprehensively considering such factors as our financial condition, earnings trends, dividend payout ratio, and internal reserves for future business investment.

Given the above policy and the higher-than-expected net revenue attributable to owners of the parent, the year-end payment for the year ended March 2024 will be increased by 2 to 32 per share from the previous forecast. Accordingly, the annual dividend, including the interim dividend, will be 60 yen per share.
